DANVILLE, VA., September 19.—By squeezing a run across the plate in the ninth inning, Richmond broke the tie and won from Danville in a loosely played game. The Tobacco City team, from their recent series of victories on the road, took a breathing spell and put up a rather ragged exhibition. Four errors, a wild pitch, a passed ball and a hit batter, coupled with four hits by Richmond in the fourth inning, tell the story of how they lost the game. Lavinder, who started in pitch for the home team, was hit freely at critical stages and had to be taken out at the end of the fourth inning when six hits had been made off him, and his wild pitch advanced the rest of the game, was in good form and, but for a single and a double secured off him in the first inning, he was invincible. Richmond played a game in the field which was far superior to that of Danville.

YESTERDAY'S GAME AS THE ARTIST SAW IT

NORFOLK WINS IN SUSPICIOUS GAME

Many Norfolk Fans Believe Contest Was Thrown by Truckers.

PITCHERS ARE IN FINE FORM

Otey and Hallman Unhittable Until Final Inning of Game.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
NORFOLK, VA., September 19.—A couple of safe bunts and two wild throws in the ninth inning, after two were out, gave Norfolk the only run and the first game of the closing series of the season with Portsmouth by the score of 1 to 0. The game was one of the prettiest and fastest of the season. Both teams played pretty ball. Brilliant fielding was the order of the day. Five or six times fast work killed what looked to be safe drives. Both teams were in the work. It was a pitchers' battle between Otey and Hallman, two southpaws. They were in great form. Hits were scarce articles. Both teams had but few chances to score. When things were critical could not find the pitchers.

In the ninth, with two men out, Manion surprised Portsmouth's infield by laying down a bunt. He had it beat out easily, but Hallman foolishly tried to catch him at first, threw wild and Manion went to second. Griffin laid down a bunt. It was safe, but Hennager repeated the wild-throw performance, and Manion scored. While the two errors might have been fairly made, the sudden ending of the game did not satisfy hundreds of fans. They believe it was a deliberate "lay down" by Portsmouth.

POLICE TROUCE
POSTMEN SOUNDLY

In Baseball Clash Between Federal and State Forces Blue-coats Win.

POP TATE IS HERO OF GAME

Grand Old Man of the Game Shows Flashes of Old Form. The Other Stars.

A baseball team representing the Police Department of the city smothered a nine representing Uncle Sam's wards in the postal service in a game played at Broad Street Park yesterday afternoon. The proceeds of which were donated to the Police Benevolent Association. About 1,000 people witnessed the amusing exhibition of the national game as the league teams sometimes play it—the Chinese variety in unsolicited yellowness. The bluecoats appeared to be the favorites from the start and so fully justified expectations that the crowd out of sympathy for the letter-carriers changed adherence and rooted for the gray coats of the postal service. The two teams were represented in the uniforms, and Pop Tate somehow and somewhere managed to find one to fit his willow figure to advantage.

First race, the seven innings, unusual exercise of the players on both teams many applications for sick leaves and furloughs may be asked. The police finished the seven innings with a total of 18 runs and 15 hits and just 5 errors, while the post-office boys had 4 runs, 9 hits and 8 errors. The cops swiped 15 bases and the postmen 4.

Among the crowd in attendance were many politicians of every degree, including many not seen at a ball game in years, and most of them rooted for the policemen. Dignified jurists, ministers, lawyers, doctors and all classes were represented in the crowd which thoroughly enjoyed the exhibition. It was worth the admission to see Pop Tate catch and Right-Fielder Green enter the competition. He was very much disgusted the first time he was called out on strikes and insisted that Umpire Still must be blind. He would hit nothing but high ones, but he was not alone in preferring high balls. The eager batters reached for every one that came within range of the bases.

Third-Baseman Wilt Tomlinson led the hitters for the team with two hits in five times up, but Pitcher "Red" Warriner cracked out a two-bagger and then a long triple. As a pitcher, he gave Christy Mathewson and Rube Waddell a close run for the honors. The curvaceous wonder sped them over in great shape until his arm began to tire. He had been out on the bases he was tricky as a right fielder in good stead as a pitcher. He fanned ten men in seven innings, and allowed no touch hits for three innings.

Third-Baseman Miller was the star of the postmen. He made two hits in four trips, scored two runs, stole three bases and accepted four chances without error. Manager Bradley, of the cops, was very much pleased.

In the third inning the police began to use their clubs. A two-base hit, a three-bagger and several errors gave them five runs. In the next round they got six runs on three hits. It was in the seventh, however, that the cops clubbed Pitcher Doughty as though he were resting against a tree. He explained that he had been out on the bases he was tricky as a right fielder in good stead as a pitcher. He fanned ten men in seven innings, and allowed no touch hits for three innings.

Pop Tate showed the white feather and promptly declined a challenge to play another game with a different team. He explained that he had been out on the bases he was tricky as a right fielder in good stead as a pitcher. He fanned ten men in seven innings, and allowed no touch hits for three innings.

BALTIMORE YACHT
WINS SECOND RACE

Two Dorothys Are Now Tied, and To-Day's Race Will Decide.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
NORFOLK, VA., September 19.—In the second race of the series for the Linton Cup, sailed this afternoon in the lower Chesapeake, the first yacht across the finish line was the Sue, but owing to her being disqualified by turning the outer mark on the wrong side, and besides having to allow each of the other contestants six minutes and thirty-two seconds, the high-score boat was the Eleanor, with the Dorothy second and the Dorothy Q. third and the Caspium fourth. The winner of the first race being the Dorothy Q. with the Dorothy second, the totaling of the scores gives this result in points: Dorothy Q. 8; Dorothy, 1; Eleanor, 7; Caspium, 5, and Sue, 1. By this the Dorothys are tied for first place, and it will make the next race to-morrow one of great interest, for it will mean that the cup will go either to Boston or Baltimore, or will result in a tie that will mean another race to decide the victor.

The race to-day was a pretty and interesting one. According to agreement with the racing men, the committee gave the course to windward of the first race being the Dorothy Q. seven and a half miles and return. The wind was about north-northeast and blowing about eight miles. The Sue and Dorothy had a scurvy race to the windward of the committee boat and both got left when the whistle blew. Within a few few seconds, however, they were across and in hot pursuit.

The Dorothy was the first to tack and took a short hitch to windward, but she gave the course to windward of the Sue for instead of tacking on which they went across the line. From the committee boat it was difficult to tell which was in the lead until the first split tacks, and then it was seen that the Eleanor was in the lead of the Q boats, but the Sue was leading all. In the meanwhile, the Sue and Dorothy had a scurvy race to the windward of the committee boat and both got left when the whistle blew. Within a few few seconds, however, they were across and in hot pursuit.

Within a few few seconds, however, they were across and in hot pursuit.

The Dorothy was the first to tack and took a short hitch to windward, but she gave the course to windward of the Sue for instead of tacking on which they went across the line. From the committee boat it was difficult to tell which was in the lead until the first split tacks, and then it was seen that the Eleanor was in the lead of the Q boats, but the Sue was leading all. In the meanwhile, the Sue and Dorothy had a scurvy race to the windward of the committee boat and both got left when the whistle blew. Within a few few seconds, however, they were across and in hot pursuit.
